

LIVING and LEAVING Your

Legacy

Few things are more important than the "legacy" we are living and leaving our children. They will become what we have built into them... emotionally socially, and spiritually. But children are not the only ones you are impacting! Friends, neighbors, and people you work with will also be impacted by your life!

This workshop will challenge parents to consider the heritages they are leaving.

